Schistosomiasis is one of the most important neglected tropical diseases, with hundreds of millions of people infected and approximately 650,000 deaths estimated to occur annually. The bill would require the Treasury Department to establish a federal-state firewall to better protect taxpayers, including providing a safety net for companies that are “too big to fail.” Lawmakers would also set up a $100 billion bank bailout fund, possibly pushing banks to pay the government back for the massive support. The bill would also seek to force financial institutions to break up or split the problematic businesses that caused the last financial crisis. The second piece of banking reform to pass the committee was the two-year moratorium bill. This bill would halt forecl
