system and better protect the American people. It was a great opportunity for everyone to share their ideas on what we can do to make the justice system work for everyone. On Thursday, the House Judiciary Committee will hold its first meeting since its summer break on the issue of Justice for Victims of Crime Act. Before we get to that, I want to remind all of you that the work of Congress on Capitol Hill this year has been nothing short of historic. We passed historic tax relief, marked the beginning of bipartisan, comprehensive tax reform, and rolled back harmful regulations on businesses across the country. We have a strong Board that is aligned behind this process and we know this is the right decision for our community.” Pemberton resident Margaret McKinnon said the ZBA should have made a decision based on the petition and not the zoning changes themselves. “They’re not going to make the right decision.” “I don’t think we should be changing the rules so late in the game.” Kim Stewart, another Pemberton resident, said that the zoning amendment should not have been approved. “You can’t just change the rules. The whole concept of village of Pemberton is to keep things the same.” “I think we should be following the rules.” Heather Ryskyj, one of the two trustees who voted against the zoning change, said she was “surprised” and “confused” about the decision. “We live in Pemberton. We want Pemberton to be a strong community, a community that works together,” she said. Ryskyj said she is “hoping that there is a dialogue” with the town and the municipality about how the zoning change could be used and what it means for the village. “We want to make sure we continue to maintain a community feel,” she said.
