AGIDKSAPI.NET.Q: Random selection of an element from an array until a condition is satisfied I would like to select and return an element from an array randomly until the element is a number greater than zero or the array is empty. After that process, I want to delete the array and use the new one in an attempt to do it again. I know how to do the first part with a custom method such as.sample, but I don't know how to do the second part and how to write a conditional in my method. `def pick_array(arr)`

`#do something end` I would appreciate any answers/comments. P.S. If I need to post some of my code, then I would be happy to do so. A: You can use `Enumerable#sample` with a block (an array) instead of a weight. You need to use a proc to pass that block as an argument: `arr = [1, 2, 3, 4]`
`arr.reject(&:empty?) # => [2, 4]` The first step returns a collection of blocks of size 2 from 0 to `arr.size-1`. The proc can return either `nil` or an empty array. You can find all the methods you need in `Enumerable`, in particular: `slice!` to remove a single element from the collection `delete_at` to remove all the elements at a given position and the other class-level methods which take a block: `index`, `select`, `sample`, `sort` and `partition`. Q: How to call a method on a C# class from an unmanaged C++ method I am developing a plugin for 3e33713323
