What's New in the RegExp Download Organizer?

RegExp Download Organizer is meant to simplify the task of organizing your Downloads folder by providing meaningful subfolders for each download thread you start when using Google Chrome. It's easy to create and edit add-on rules, and you can also export them to JSON files. Import the add-on rules, synchronize them to cloud storage, and use them on other computers that you are logged in to. The rules could be useful for those who need to organize the files in their Downloads folder and those who are looking for a way to automatically create meaningful folders for each download thread.
