As we all know, Sidekick devices are pretty much dead, but unless you're a Verizon Droid customer, you probably don't use a Sidekick. Now Sidekick has announced they're coming to Android, and they're more than ready to hit the market. The Sidekick is a basic cell phone, so it makes sense that they've waited for Android phones to prove Sidekick is the only choice. There's a handful of Android phones out right now that have Sidekick support, but I'm hoping more manufacturers will come on board.Bodies of Unidentified Alien Bodies : Others The U.S. government has defended its decision to exhume the bodies of three decades-old victims of three questionable UFO crashes, including the "three-eyed alien" case, saying 1cb139a0ed
