Browser Exploitation with Oz and TcxS.Q: How to delete the oldest file in a directory with an SQL query in php I have a table with files in a directory named "photos", and in that table I store information about the date and size of each file. The `current_timestamp()` will return a date of this moment, so I want to write an SQL query to get the oldest file. For example: If the "photos" directory contains the following files: 2015-01-01-photo1.jpg 2016-01-01-photo1.jpg 2013-01-01-photo1.jpg The query should return the oldest file (in the example above: 2013-01-01-photo1.jpg) and I want to use that info to delete the file in the directory. A: To delete the oldest file, first you need to get the oldest date (that you specified in an SQL query) and then delete the file associated to that date. The code to do that could be:

// get the oldest date $oldestDate = SELECT max(date) FROM photos; // loop through photos foreach (/* file_get_contents('photos/'.$oldestDate) */ as $item) { // delete file unlink($item); } The long
