Amarillo: Open-source database driven CMS that accepts editable documents? - ninyanj I just started a project, trying to build a CMS around a web database model. We have a very specific set of requirements, including: editing is a first class citizen, database driven pages, document oriented, and a medium sized development team.I've never built a database driven site before, but I'm thinking it should be pretty easy to build out a self sufficient CMS using a model similar to the one in Backblaze.io:http://backblaze.io/app/overview/ ===== madamelic > an open-source database driven CMS Um, this is impossible. It's a catch-22, you can't use an open-source database driven CMS because it's not open-source and it's not database driven. 648931e174
