As a young child, I dreamt of becoming a chain-smoking cosplay ninja paparazzi photographer. I started taking photos of pop culture in 2010, while I was still in my teens, and as the site grew, I worked at creating a community where I could share my passion with others. As 2013 began, I moved to Los Angeles, in hopes to pursue a career in the film industry. A year later, I had the fortune of joining Twitter when the site launched, and began to plan an easier way to share my photos with the world, an app named Vizzle. The initial app was named after the popular song of the same name, and focused on sharing photos of your favorite pop culture icons with your friends and family. The game was released for free in October of 2014, and it took only a few months for Vizzle to reach 10,000 plays. In that time, we also reached several milestones including Facebook, YouTube and Twitter integrations. Vizzle is currently ranked #1 in free puzzle games on iOS and Android! Today, we continue to thrive and grow, reaching out to more and more people across the globe every day. We strive to bring you the best game possible, offering multiple game modes, pieces, themes, languages, and more. We're committed to making Vizzle better and better, year after year. We truly hope you enjoy Vizzle as much as we enjoyed making it! Hey there, I noticed you get a lot of traffic, at least as much as me. My name is Eric, I'm part of the webmaster team and we're working really hard to bring you visitors in the coming months. We're in the middle of a great month and currently climbing higher and higher every single day. That's why I've decided to give you a voucher for $19, but before you take it, I just wanted to offer you a limited-time discount, just for today only! It's a limited-time price of $5! But I thought you'd like this extra bit of incentive. Hurry up and take the voucher, because it expires today! I'm looking forward to knowing more about you. Fight with your fists or a sword or a bow, and as you level up, receive items from the Goddess to equip on your Paladin, armaments and a wide range of magical abilities!Q: Cannot connect Cloud SQL when using proxy I have an GCP project with a Cloud SQL database instance and a service account defined for Cloud SQL Admin role. I am logged in as the service account with the Cloud Shell. I try to connect using the command: `cloud sql -c --region= -i -u my-service-account-id -p` I get the error: This instance is running in production mode: ERROR: The call to `sql.Open()` failed with errors `sql.Open(pwd=, flags=, source=, database=, writable_db=)` raised `google.rpc.ServiceException: Access Not Configured: The request did not contain sufficient authentication scopes.` I am logged in as the service account because I did not create any keys with the `gcloud` plugin to access Cloud SQL. I have tried connecting to Cloud SQL in the web console with the service account and I can access the database just fine. I've also tried connecting to Cloud SQL from within my appengine backend and from within a separate backend service running as the service account. My appengine backend uses Cloud SQL and uses credentials in the environment. A: First, you need to understand the difference between Cloud SQL proxy, Cloud SQL service, and Cloud SQL instances. Cloud SQL proxy - a frontend server that handles connections to Cloud SQL instances. When you use a proxy, you make a call to a specific hostname (either for connecting by IP, or a specific port) on the GCP network that connects to your Cloud SQL instance. Cloud SQL service - an instance of MySQL or MariaDB running on GCP. Cloud SQL instances - the actual database server you want to connect to. As you can see, c9d1549cdd untitled Rhythm Puzzle Game takes place in a world where elements known as the Longshots have been used for their most destructive purpose - to create cities out of rock. Shaped into 'puzzle' form, the elements are used to create the locales within the city. Each Longshot is a single rock with a natural pattern, and acts in the same way as it would in normal stone. As the game progresses, the patterning on the stone will change, making for a unique and ever-changing environment. The Longshot's patterning is formed by the environment in which they were formed. * Above - All Longshots have a patterning which changes according to the environment that they have been placed in. * Below - The pattern of a Longshot Rock will change on the ground level of a new game * Never seen before - Each Longshot will have different properties to the regular elements. The game has been built with modularity in mind, meaning that if a different group of longshots are created, a different soundtrack and story will be generated. You will have the opportunity to design your own Soundscape. Designated Game System: Using a unique Mixing Engine, the elements can be connected to each other in order to create The Longshot System. The key points in each Longshot connect to the points of each other. For example, if an element is found at the top of a longshot, there will be an opening in the centre. This leads to another longshot, and the same goes for every other longshot. Combining Longshots to create objects. Combining Longshots to create buildings. Longshots have a property which can be used in order to change the environment. You can make a ceiling out of a stone, making the space above the stone a staircase to something different. You can use this element to move to a different part of the game. Above - Stone can be used as a substitute for Metal, Wood, Fluid or Ice Above - Stone can be used as a substitute for Coal Above - Stone can be used as a substitute for Water * Never seen before - Each Longshot has a different property Notably, each longshot has a different number of colors to it. The color of a longshot defines it's shape and can be used as an ability. Untitled Rhythm Puzzle Game is a game that will take place in one of the few remaining Longshot environments.1. Arenas and monsters The game currently contains 10 arenas with different looks and types of enemies that you have to beat. You will face weak pawns but also elite monsters that will cause you lots of trouble with their powerful skills. You have to read carefully description of enemy skills as there are skills that will wipe your heroes very quickly if not countered correctly. Heroes You can assemble a team of maximum 5 heroes of your choosing from over 20 heroes at the time (more heroes will come soon). The heroes might not allways be the coolest and strongest people but hey everyone has right to be a bit lame from time to time. Every hero has 3 unique skills for you to use. There is no mana or other resource, only cooldowns. Pick your team wisely as there are different types of heroes as you know them from other games - there are tankier heroes, healers, damage dealers or supports with buffs and debuffs.
