Compared to the other Photoshop program options, PE is more like the beginning of Photoshop and does have some initial restrictions on the number of layers it can create, for example. However, the resources for learning and teaching Photoshop Elements are the same as those for Photoshop, and you can find them at the same online places. PE is a good way for a beginning or intermediate photographer to get a taste of Photoshop without buying or subscribing to Photoshop. It includes the same tools as Photoshop, and some of them work exactly the same as the Professional version. Q: ColdFusion domain with multiple subdomains I have a ColdFusion server I'm just playing with, so please bear with me. I have multiple subdomains at the moment (and probably will for a while): example.com (for a main site) example.com.au (for a different site) contacts.example.com (for the contact form) I'd like to get rid of the first two and combine them into the main domain. Is there any way to do this? Thanks, Tim A: You just need to add your new subdomains to the HostFile then rename your current domains. You can't change the HostFile in CFAdmin however. If you dont want to type the subdomains in then add them to a new alias file and reference the alias file in the HostFile. 9-12-15: 9-12-15: 9-13-15: 9-13-15: 9-17-15: 9-17-15: 9-18-15: 9-19-15: 9-22-15: 9-24-15: 9-26-15: 10-1-15: 10-3-15:
