Simultaneous quantification of all-trans-retinal, all-trans-beta-carotene, and 14,15-dihydro-9-cis-retinol in human plasma by HPLC-APCI-MS/MS. A rapid, sensitive, and specific method for the determination of all-trans-retinal, all-trans-beta-carotene, and 14,15-dihydro-9-cis-retinol in human plasma was developed using HPLC-APCI-MS/MS. After simple protein precipitation using acetonitrile, the sample was analyzed by reversed-phase HPLC in isocratic mode with acetonitrile/water (80:20) containing 0.1% formic acid. The appropriate MRM transitions were used for all-trans-retinal, all-trans-beta-carotene, and

14,15-dihydro-9-cis-retinol quantification, respectively, after separation by high-performance liquid chromatography and atmospheric pressure chemical ionization-tandem mass spectrometry. Linear
