I was trying to find out whether a file exists in Python, but there is an error saying cannot concatenate'str' and 'NoneType' I am using Python 2.7. A: Python 2.x (and 3.x) use raw strings for string literals, so you need to add r before the string and curly braces: if os.path.exists(rfilename)!= True: print "The file {0} does not exist. or you can use a triple-quoted string: if os.path.exists("{0}".format(filename))!= True: print "The file {0} does not exist. or the str.format() function: if os.path.exists(str(filename))!= True: print "The file {0} does not exist. That being said, you can do this more easily and concisely using pathlib: import pathlib if not pathlib.isfile(filename): print("The file { } does not exist.".format(filename)) Effects of an oat product containing gliadin and gluten on an experimental model of oat-sensitive enteropathy. The safety of gluten-containing cereals has been questioned, and it has been suggested that oats may have a lower risk of provoking gluten-related symptoms than other cereals. The aim of this study was to assess the effect of an oat product on a model of oat-sensitive enteropathy. A total of 15 healthy volunteers participated in 0cc13bf012
