Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez is threatening to use a subpoena to force House Minority Leader Kevin McCarthy's GOP colleagues to answer her question about whether they agree with the president when he says that four-month-old migrant children shouldn't be given back to their parents. President Trump on Monday delivered a controversial speech claiming there are "criminals and bad people" among migrants making their way to the border with the goal of entering the United States. DEMS TO LAWMAKERS: GO BACK TO WORK AND RESOLVE IMPEACHMENT "Human traffickers are bringing foreign nationals across our borders without any regard for our laws or the safety of our people," Trump said. "This is a national security issue. We cannot allow a single foreign national to enter the United States undetected." In his speech, Trump suggested that four-month-old migrant children should be returned to their parents in their home countries if they enter the United States illegally. "Think of it: Why should we allow people, often referred to as 'animals,' to invade our country without going through a process? Because the law says they can," he said. "We simply cannot allow people to invade our country and then freely roam the land without punishment," he added, according to a White House transcript. AOC WARNS OF US 'GRAVEDIGGER' IMMIGRATION POLICIES Democrats immediately decried the president's comments, arguing that they're part of a "callous" and "xenophobic" attempt to stoke fear in the public that undermines America's values. "While I am glad that the President is now pushing back on his failed immigration policies, he cannot outsource his moral responsibility by blaming migrants," Ocasio-Cortez said Tuesday. The Democratic congresswoman added: "As members of Congress, we have a moral obligation to ensure that children are not used as a weapon against each other." McCarthy's office did not respond to Fox News' request for comment, but one GOP lawmaker told Fox News that the "bipartisan call" last week by House Democratic leaders of the chamber to quickly
