I found that my XEA-C1 is not appearing in my GX Live View panel on the web panel side. I thought that I could manually add it via the menu, but it has not worked. Anyone know how to get a new plugin to work? A: EDIT: The latest version of GSDX11 plugin from this GitHub does have a fix for this issue. Open the GSDX11 plugin, then right click on the plugin you're using and click on "Add plugin to library". This will put the plugin you're using into the GSDX11 plugin. Click on the "Open/Use in GX Live View" and browse to and choose the GSDX11 plugin. Hope this helps! Buddhist prayer beads Buddhist prayer beads (Sanskrit: catuṣkoṣa, Pāli: catuṣahoksa; Tibetan: 'gtsugl tsul khriṃs phō bo; Wylie: 'g.tu lce 'khros mchod pho b) are used in Theravada Buddhism to count mantras and thereby offer to a deity. The term means "armlet". They are generally circular in cross-section and made of stone, wood, or metal. They are meant to be worn around the neck in various sizes. The length, thickness, and size of the beads may vary between different items and, to some extent, between different traditions. The beads of the Tibetan tradition (see below) are called 'shid-Ingā and less commonly 'bshō-Ingā (i.e. the "lotus-fingers"), as in the Dzogchen tradition these are called 'gos-shid-Ingā and 'gos-bshō- 6d1f23a050
