The effect of intravenous administration of 0.3 mg/kg of Verapamil Hydrochloride was evaluated in 10 normal volunteers by means of a double-blind technique. Plasma levels of verapamil and norverapamil were measured by radioimmunoassay and the latter is considered as an index of hepatic metabolism of verapamil. A significant decrease in systolic and diastolic blood pressure was noted after the verapamil infusion. The administration of verapamil caused a significant decrease in the white blood cell count with an increase in the hemoglobin level. There was no clinically apparent effect on the red cell indices, reticulocyte count and platelet count. The drug was well tolerated with no serious side effects.Patton Oswalt, Actor and Comedian If you're the sort of person who has trouble pronouncing the name, try saying it at least ten times: "Penelope!" "I think in a real way, he's the best comedian of his generation," says Oswalt. "He's fearless, which is the real key to comedy." Oswalt first crossed paths with Wexler when they were both working at a comedy club in L.A., where they met Matt Besser, another c6a93da74d
